Car blaze campaign prompts inquiry

AN investigation has been launched by Vauxhall following reports of its cars bursting into flames.

The Luton manufacturer said it was 'aware' of reports that previous versions of its Zafira model were suddenly catching fire. Our sister paper, the Plymouth Herald, spoke to two women who narrowly escaped injury after both their cars appeared to spontaneously combust. They have since launched a campaign which seems to have unearthed similar cases around the UK.

Drug crew is locked up for £5.1m stash

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

SEVEN members of a drug gang have been jailed for a total of 52 years and six months.

The men were part of an organised crime group which operated in Luton from February 2014 until January this year – during which they sold heroin and cocaine with a street value of more than £5 million. At the height of their powers they received more than 1,200 calls a week.

The criminal business spanned the whole spectrum of drug supply from street dealing through to commercial dealing.

During the course of the investigation, Bedfordshire Police seized nine kilos of heroin and cocaine with a street value of up to £1 million.

However, an analysis of ledgers that were found at a drugs factory as part of the probe found that 32 kilos of class A drugs had been sold by the group – a combination of heroin with a retail value of £3.2 million and cocaine with a street value of £1.9 million.

The men sentenced were:

■ Abdul Samad, 29, of Midhurst Gardens, was jailed for 19 years.

■ Sheikh Islam, 32, of Eaton Valley Road, Luton, was sentenced to 10 years.

■ Mohammed Hussain, 30, of Oak Road, Luton was locked up for five years and a half years.

■ Mahibor Ali, 31, of Highbury Road, Luton, was given four and a half years.

■ Mohammed Yasin, 29, of Holyrood Crescent, St Albans, was sentenced to six years.

■ Sumon Miah, 29, of Cromwell Road, Luton, was imprisoned for four and a half years.

■ Sajjad Rafiq, 27, of Beech Road, Luton, was jailed for three years.

■ And Kamrul Rahman, 24, of Foxglove Way, Luton, pleaded guilty and will be sentenced at a later date.

On Friday Luton Crown Court heard how Samad was in charge of the group while Islam had a significant role and provided a safe house for the heroin.

Detective Inspector Paul Baron said: "This was a huge operation which saw the gang sell large quantities of both heroin and cocaine."

"At the height of the criminality, the group was taking more than 1,200 calls a week on their street dealing phone line. Organised crime groups such as this are incredibly dangerous so I'm pleased that thanks to the hard work of our officers, these men have been put behind bars for a very long time."

Building a future for our young people

IF the darker mornings haven't been proof enough, howling winds and sprinklings of rain this week confirmed it: autumn is here.

And I was glad to be wearing my winter coat as I wandered out of the train station and towards the great looming outline of Bute Mills on Thursday.

This building, built in 1911 as a mill for the Brown family, is now undergoing a total overhaul ready for its grand opening as headquarters for the charity Youthscape.

The charity was founded in 1993 right here in Luton and, though its hometown remains a priority, it now delivers youthwork across the country - you can hear more in YourVoice (p10). The cutting edge designs and ambitious objectives planned for the centre will only be realised with help from a whole host of volunteers.

But considering more than £250k was raised for the development by the people of this town - that shouldn't be a problem.

Manufacturer probes fires

TWO mums who narrowly escaped from cars which burst into flames are behind a campaign which has sparked an investigation by a Luton manufacturer.

Sue Freemantle, 37, and Claire Wheatley, 36, (pictured right) from Plymouth, started the campaign after their 2007 Vauxhall Zafira caught fire.

The Luton-based firm agreed to investigate after dozens of people came forward claiming the same had happened to them.

BBC's Watchdog will also investigate the fires in a show to be aired on Thursday.

Sue was parked in the driveway of her family home with her three young children, aged between two and 13, when she suddenly noticed smoke sifting through the car vents. She quickly unbuckled her two-year-old son from his car seat and helped her two other children exit the vehicle while her cousin, who was also in the car with her daughter, did the same.

She said: "We were in shock. We had only driven home because my husband had forgotten his key to get in. We were about to head to a restaurant for a family meal, so it's only by chance that we'd returned home."

"But it's lucky we did, in many ways. We were parked in the driveway when it happened. This smoke just started to come through the vents and the dashboard had become insanely hot.

"I told everyone to get out as quickly as they could, and we ran up the street. I was worried the car might explode or something, so I just wanted to get my family as far away as possible."

Vauxhall said: "We are aware of the reports concerning vehicle fires involving right-hand drive versions of the previous-model Zafira (not Zafira Tourer) and have begun an internal investigation to determine the root causes of these fires."

Cop bar calls hit 797 as force is stretched

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

POLICE officers have been called out 797 times to incidents at pubs, bars and clubs in the last three years, Luton on Sunday can reveal.

Officers have also recorded 834 crimes and identified 228 victims at incidents around the town.

A Freedom of Information request has shown that though 834 weapons were catalogued, only 43 arrests were made during 2012-2015.

The data comes from incidents which the police have recorded as taking place inside and outside bars, clubs and pubs in Luton.

According to the figures, the highest number of calls out were linked to The Duke of Clarence pub (82) in Upper George Street and Liquid nightclub (62) in Gordon Street.

The Duke closed in March this year when its licence was suspended due to 'repeated crime and disorder'.

Liquid shut in May this year due to declining footfall.

Fists (227), unknown items (63), aggressive behaviour (30) and feet (28) were listed as the most common choice of weapon. Other weapons used included teeth, bodily fluids, knives and animals.

Mr Duggan, a pub consultant with 35 years of experience in the industry, said he was not surprised by the data.

He said: "The vast majority of pub licensees have lost confidence in the police to respond to call outs for assistance when they need them most. One pub landlord I represent in Luton was shocked at the response time for a serious incident at the pub on Valentines' night last year.

"The police turned up one hour after the 999 call and the perpetrators were well gone by that time.

"The officers who attended explained that they were in Leighton Buzzard attending another pub incident when the call came in.

"The officer apologised for the delay but remarked that they were over stretched and didn't have a mobile presence in Luton that night to cope with two call outs."

Bedfordshire Police chief inspector Gayner Coulson said: "We have regular patrols in the town centre to reassure revellers and we are able to quickly respond to calls for service.

"Police presence at an incident is often enough to diffuse incidents without the necessity for an arrest.

"On some occasions victims may not be willing to cooperate with police and do not wish to make a complaint, on other occasions the incidents have diffused quickly before our arrival."

Pubs/clubs with the highest call out rates...

- 1) Duke of Clarence (82)
- 2) Liquid (62)
- 3) The Parrot (44)
- 4) The Exchange (43)
- 5) Leicester Arms (25)

Space 'stealers' driving residents mad

RESIDENTS are having to use paint buckets to secure parking spots outside their own homes because of 'inconsiderate' commuters.

People living in Meyrick Avenue, Luton, say there have been a number of 'near misses' caused by motorists parking on pavements and blocking driveways.

Bob Walker, 64, (pictured right) said the road was a busy route used by people trying to get in and out of Farley Hill.

He said: "I used to work for Luton Borough Council for quite a while so a few of them will park here and walk to town. It seems an accepted thing but what really bothers me is that there have been a few near misses. My wife had an incident where a guy almost hit the dog and if you try to talk to these people you get abuse."

Councillor Sian Timoney, who also lives on the street, said: "None of us have a right to the space outside our houses but if you have a driveway with two cars and you are having difficulty getting in and out then it's not so much the space but it's the consideration.

"I have put notes on people's cars several times and I know my neighbours do that as well. You have people who park right up on the corner of a turning. That's on a school route so you cannot see what's coming up the junction. Some of the residents have written to the council and the council has said it is going to look into it."

Family's anger as no action taken against L&D doctors

THE father of Claire Allnutt has hit out at the results of an investigation into her death.

Ms Allnutt died as a result of blood poisoning stemming from when a dirty drip was left in her arm.

This week, the General Medical Council (GMC), who investigated five doctors in relation to her death in January 2014, blamed the practices of Luton and Dunstable Hospital.

Claire's father Richard Allnutt said: "We wanted to do everything we could for our daughter."

"We're angry at the kind of treatment Claire received and angry at the way both the hospital and the GMC seem to have washed their hands of it. The doctors have got away with the death of our daughter and can just get on with their lives. We can't."

The investigation found three hospital doctors involved in the death of 'fell seriously below the standard expected', but they decided to take no action against them.

One was exonerated by the investigation, conducted by the GMC and no news remains on the fifth and final doctor on whom a complaint was filed.

Ms Allnutt died as a result of blood poisoning stemming from when a dirty drip was left in her arm.

A spokeswoman for Luton and Dunstable Hospital said: "The Luton and Dunstable University Hospital has given an unserved apology to Claire Allnutt's family following her tragic death last January."

No-shows cost hospital £2.9m

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

MISSED appointments over the course of a year at Luton and Dunstable Hospital have cost just shy of £3m.

The figures, for between April 2014 and April 2015, show that 11 per cent of outpatients missed their appointments at an average cost of £72 each, which varies on the treatments which the patient undergoes.

The total money lost by the hospital over that period was £2.9m.

Cllr Gilbert Campbell, who sits on the Health and Wellbeing Ward said: "It's not good when other people can have these appointments instead of having to wait."

"I'm not sure why people miss them, whenever I need to cancel and appointment I let people know."

"The attitude of people must be that they don't realise the cost of missing an appointment and education on the effect is needed."

A total of 40,000 people in total did not attend their appointments over that period of time.

The hospital says that the figure is in line with national statistics, which sees a loss of £300m a year to the NHS, according to a study by the Journal of the Royal Society of Medicine.

It also says that around 30 per cent of people who miss their appointments do so just out of forgetfulness.

Furthermore, a quarter of people who missed an appointment are likely to have missed one previously.

Despite the high figure, there has been an improvement in attending appointments.

A spokeswoman for Luton and Dunstable Hospital said: "One of the hospital's responses to this problem has been to put a 'call reminder' service in place for the last 18 months."

"This has resulted in a two per cent reduction in the DNA (Did Not Attend) rate, from 13 per cent to 11 per cent, and a service that is £500k more efficient."

"Another initiative is focusing on follow up appointments and booking them closer to the date the appointment is due."

"This is being rolled out across the hospital having shown a three per cent improvement in the DNA rate in Rheumatology outpatient appointments."

No remorse from drug dealer killer

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A MAN who pulled out a knife and stabbed to death a cannabis dealer showed no regrets or remorse a jury was told on Thursday.

Jason Nelson plunged the knife into Jordan Maguire three times, an eye witnesses said.

Dennis Kamau told a jury at Luton Crown Court that he and his girlfriend were looking to buy some cannabis when he came across Jason Nelson near the Nisa store on the Marsh Farm Estate in Luton.

The prosecution alleges that Mr Nelson, 32, was in the middle of a spree of extreme violence, having sexually assaulted a 25-year-old woman in the stairway of some flats and then a 60-year-old woman in her flat.

He said he, his girlfriend and their dog went with the man, Jason Nelson, to Jordan Maguire's home in Thrales Close.

Mr Kamau said his girlfriend stayed outside while he and Mr Nelson spoke to

KILLED: Jordan Maguire was found dead outside his home

Jordan on the doorstep.

Mr Nelson agreed to share a £20 deal with him and they went to the kitchen where Jordan removed a tin from a kitchen cabinet.

Mr Kamau said: "The next thing I saw was a knife rise above and attack Jordan."

"I saw the knife go into him and Jordan acted all shocked. "He stabbed him a second time. Jordan shouted 'Get out! Get out!'"

He said as Jordan ran out of the back door he was stabbed in the back by Mr Nelson who said: 'You little pussy.'

He said Mr Nelson then walked to the front door, put the knife away and rode off on his bike.

Asked how the man seemed, he said: "He showed no regrets or remorse."

Prosecutor Dafydd Enoch QC said the attacks happened on the Marsh Farm estate between 6pm and a quarter past eight on Sunday, 26 May 2013.

The stab wound to the chest had punctured Jordan's aorta and he was fatally injured.

Mr Nelson moved on to Trinidad, where he was arrested on October 16, 2013.

Nelson, who had lived on the Marsh Farm Estate in Luton, pleads not guilty to sex assault, rape and murder on Sunday, May 26 2013.

In his defence case statement, he said the rape and sexual assault never happened.

He said he admitted killing Jordan with the knife but said he acted in lawful self-defence.

On Tuesday Aaron Bradley, 34 was jailed for 21 days for taking photos of Mr Nelson in the court which is illegal.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

ADVERTISEMENT

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tom Bliss feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable and Stevenage areas and Tom is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success.

"The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Ex-journalist to run against Olly for PCC

FORMER breakfast TV reporter and presenter Kathryn Holloway has won the Conservative candidacy to challenge Bedfordshire's police and crime commissioner Olly Martins in next year's election.

Kathryn was a former reporter and presenter of live television and radio news on TV-am, Sky News and LBC radio. Since 2000 she has specialised in crisis communications including advising chief constables and police forces in some of Britain's highest profile cases.

She was elected by local Conservatives at the Rufus Centre in Flitwick last Saturday.

Police force cuts could prove 'fatal'

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

CHIEF Constable Jon Boucher has said Bedfordshire Police's funding from the Home Office is equivalent to 'vandalism'.

This comes after reports last week that Bedfordshire Police is not expecting to see an increase in government funding in the annual spending review next month.

Mr Boucher said: "There could be fatal consequences in the future and we need to take a look at what we cannot do as a result of the funding crisis."

The force has made reductions of £20m to its annual operating costs over the last four years and along with the £19m of savings needed by 2017, the spending review next month could see the need for another £10m.

Mr Boucher added: "All we want is a fairer deal and while the Home Office is still reviewing next month's budget there is hope.

"A number of chief constables from other forces in the region were expecting to see Bedfordshire Police be a winner in the funding review and were shocked when it didn't pan out like that."

A spokeswoman for the Home Office said: "Allocations for individual police force areas have not been set and decisions on funding will not be made until the spending review reports in November."

DOZYPARKERS

Triple threat

SHAMED this week is the driver of this Toyota Corolla for a particularly shoddy bit of parking on the streets of Luton.

Spotted in Maple Road East, being perched half on the road and half on the pavement would be bad enough, but this driver has gone a step further and parked over a single yellow line with the front wheels of the car over a speedbump.

READALLOVER

Luton on Sunday reporter Nick Smith just can't get enough of last week's new-look paper.

He was spotted leafing through the October 11 edition on his lunchbreak. In fact, it's a good job he is making the most of some down time because tomorrow (Monday, October 19), from 1pm-3pm, he will be stationed in Connors Café Bar in Bute Street to hear your stories. Got a tale to tell? Pop along and see him.

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: Fiona Green, Youthscape

Building the dream...

This week Youthscape project manager and Luton Borough Councillor, Fiona Green, talks about the progress made to transform the disused Bute Mill in Guildford Street into a new hub for the charity which works with young people in Luton and across the country

We've got six weeks left of a project that has been almost three years in the making: the transformation of an iconic, 100-year old town centre building into a state-of-the-art facility for Luton's young people.

Bute Mills is a five storey former Edwardian steam mill which stands directly opposite the train station at the gateway to the town centre.

In just a few weeks' time it will become the new home for our charity, and base for the work we do both with young people locally and youth workers across the country.

Having started out 23 years ago, in a very small office with no windows, Youthscape's work has developed significantly and we have now outgrown our current offices in Upper George Street.

Having raised £1 million in 2013 to purchase Bute Mills, we have been on the ride of our lives for the last two years, dreaming and designing and building a space that will enable us to help more and more young people.

Early on in the project we were able to secure the support of an internationally renowned architecture firm, HOK, who have not only produced a brilliant design, but also brought on board vast numbers of other designers, engineers and suppliers, who have been giving generously of their time and expertise.

As the design developed we set our minds to raising the £2 million needed to get the building up and running: new heating and electrics, significant structural works, new layout and interior design and a whole raft of fixtures and fittings.

The new centre will have meeting spaces that mean we can run more of our therapeutic group programmes for young people who self-harm, those in care and those with emotional and social problems.

We'll also have a fantastic new training space for the conferences and events we host for youth work professionals from across the country.

But the real centrepiece of the building is the ground floor café/drop in space - designed to look just like a very trendy, homely living room and kitchen - where young people can come after school, in the evenings and on weekends to relax, see friends and find support.

We've had our builders on site for 10 weeks now, and as anyone who has ever seen Grand Designs would understand, we have been on a non-stop rollercoaster of construction challenges and design decisions.

But every worry about timelines and finances and electrical pipework is incomparable to the incredible potential that this project offers for our young people in Luton.

The challenges and pressures that young people face today are immense, and so are the possibilities.

It is our hope that Bute Mills becomes a place where they discover their potential, find lasting change and learn to dream bigger.

Your Luton on sunday Letters buying goods and services in some situations, we have extended their use in recent years - but they still represents a very small proportion of our total external spending.

Like all financial dealings, use of credit cards is tightly controlled and monitored. Only a small number of council staff can have one and there are strict processes in place. All purchases are accounted for and have to be retrospectively approved in the same way as any other financial transaction.

Welcome to the jungle

I HAVE lived in Luton for nearly 40 years and in the last few years it has turned into a dump. I know it is the people leaving their rubbish all over the place who are to blame.

But why isn't the council clearing the jungles that are growing on the pavements and up the lampposts?

invoice, which is the way we buy most things, does not make economic sense.

Examples include using sites like Amazon to buy items at a lower cost; Trading Standards making test purchases; booking and paying for travel; making one-off purchases from specialist suppliers and buying cinema or theme park tickets to take looked-after children on outings.

The article also highlighted spend with a beauty company, Minikini.

The owner of this company owns a number of businesses including Young's Fish and Chips and the spend was in fact for a fish and chip supper at an annual event for foster carers.

Card spend not frivolous

IN response to last week's article about council spend on credit cards, I thought it would be useful to set the record straight and reassure residents that spending on credit cards is not only legitimate spend but helps us to save money and provide a more responsive service to residents.

We use credit cards in situations where there is an emergency need or to take advantage of low on-line prices, or where we are spending such small sums of money that raising a purchase order and paying an

Blame cuts on residents

OLLY Martins held a referendum hoping Bedfordshire residents would approve a 48 pence a week council tax rise to secure more police officers.

Sadly, the majority rejected this and we now face the consequences. It is these people in part and the government, not Mr Martin, who are responsible for the situation now. The police have our respect and thanks for the job that they do in difficult times and in the face of unjustified comments.

Olly criticised for extremism views

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

A COMMUNITY leader has hit out at remarks made by Police and Crime Commissioner Olly Martins.

Speaking on the impending cuts facing Bedfordshire Police in a statement released last week, Mr Martins said: "If there is a serious terrorist incident involving extremists connected with Luton, the responsibility is theirs and not that of the ridiculously overstretched and under-resourced Bedfordshire Police."

Akbar Dad Khan, chairman of Luton group Building Bridges, a community cohesion group took exception to Mr Martins' comments, saying it puts Luton in a bad light.

He said: "He may have been disappointed by not getting his way on funding, but, him to create fear of this kind for the people of Bedfordshire by linking it to Luton extremists is unwise."

"It tarnishes the good name of Luton town, where large numbers of people of Islamic faith live in total harmony with other communities. It is a damaging statement for community cohesion, even more so when it is coming from the PCC.

UNDER FIRE:
PCC Olly
Martins

"Olly should also not forget that Lutonians played a major role in his election."

"It is a statement with no clear thought process, which is unfitting of the office."

"His aforementioned contribution has further damaged Town's reputation as an example of community cohesion in Bedfordshire."

Mr Khan also added that he felt that Bedfordshire Police had failed to tackle the problem of extremism across the county since Mr Martins took over his role as PCC.

Olly Martins told Luton on Sunday: "However much I regret having to highlight the terror threat in Luton I can't apologise for speaking the truth."

"While it is clearly a minuscule minority of the population who harbour extremist views and resort to violence in support of their beliefs, there is nonetheless a consistent pattern of terror plots leading back to Luton and we don't deal with this issue by burying our heads in the sand and pretending it doesn't exist."

"What's more, these are very high stakes particularly when the level of the government's imminent police funding cuts is threatening the very liability of Bedfordshire Police and it's my responsibility to keep the county, and indeed the country, safe."

AN airport worker with more than 20 years of service behind her has been given a national award.

Melanie Horwood, a terminal duty officer, won the title of Frontline Employee of the Year at the National Transport Awards.

Deposit delay for student housing

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

UNIVERSITY students have been made to wait more than three months for a deposit refund because of an administrative delay, it has emerged.

Campus Living Villages (CLV), which runs eight halls of residence, said it was working with the University of Bedfordshire to return money to students who left this summer.

Nelly Estrela, 21, from London, graduated in July but only received her £200 deposit this week.

She said: "I was upset so I sent an e-mail and have called at least once a week for the past 15 weeks. A couple of weeks ago they said I would get my deposit and then they said that it was the university's fault because it had to be authorised."

"When I contacted the university they said that it had nothing to do with them. I'm not the only person to have my deposit refund delayed.

"I don't think any of my flat-mates have had their money returned."

A CLV spokeswoman said: "We are aware of a small minority of students who have experienced a delay to their deposit refund."

"We are focused on customer service and satisfaction and apologise to students affected by this delay."

"We are working with the University of Bedfordshire to resolve this as soon as possible."

Colour blind Doug

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

HOW do you fit painting, guitar playing, computer animation, swimming and walking into the 24 hours you get each day?

Oh, before you answer that, do not forget to include sleeping, eating, relaxing and quality time with friends and family.

If you are anything like 83-year-old Lutonian Doug Jones, then you would say that 'there never seems to be enough time in the day'.

The former car sales manager and Luton Airport employee has been selling historical prints and paintings for the last 45 years.

And he has managed all that despite losing a big part of his eyesight to glaucoma and being colour blind.

As a young man Doug served with the British army in Korea before spending some time in Canada and the United States of America. After that he came back to the UK where he settled into a civilian life.

What made him pick up a paintbrush?

He says: "Painting came about quite accidentally. I'm registered blind but it does not mean I cannot see.

"I lost about 85 per cent of my eyesight due to glaucoma and it was not picked up so I could not drive and at the age of 60 I had to get a job where I could work without having to drive.

"I got a job at Luton Airport for a company which made in-flight meals and while I was there they made me a supervisor.

"Up until then I had been a car sales manager. The store was different from the admin side of the business and one day I went to see the managing director in his office.

"He had some prints and when I said I like them he said he got them from IKEA and had paid £35 for each one. I said I could do an original for that price and he told me he needed six more. I had an idea of what I wanted to paint and one day when I was at my brother-in-law's place I saw on his table a book about Luton and from there it went on to other things."

After trying different things Doug settled on working with water colours to recreate scenes from the past using photographs and postcards. He has amassed a back catalogue which includes paintings of Luton, Bedford and India. He also has ones of Concorde signed by its chief pilot Mike Bannister.

In 1970 he began selling prints of his original works has artistic vision

after coming across another doing the same.

What has been the secret to his self-taught success?

Doug says: "It is something that I have always done. Even at the infant school I was allowed to paint."

"I've got a good eye for perspective, which is what you need because of what I do."

"I once had a woman who wanted me to teach her to paint and after a few weeks I had to give up because I could not teach her perspective. It is like parking, you either can or you can't."

"I would not say I am self-taught, it's more trial and error, really. I have never read an art book. You will probably notice that my paintings do not have a lot of colour in them and that's because I am colour blind."

"Once I painted a dog for a colleague and when I met him later on he said he still had the painting but could never work out why I painted the dog green!"

In recent years Doug says he has painted less and focused more on his prints, as well as keeping himself physically and creatively fit.

He says: "I just love painting. You either love something or you don't."

"Over the years when people have seen my paintings all the memories have come back and from the comments I can tell it gives people a lot of pleasure. That gives you a good feeling and is a great inspiration."

LUTON
BOROUGH COUNCIL

Honour the best town has to offer

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

THERE are only a few weeks until the Luton's Best Awards ceremony and time is running out to nominate.

The awards, organised by Love Luton, are a way to recognise unsung heroes in the town who selflessly go above and beyond expectations.

Here are some more of last year's winners to give you a bit of inspiration.

Sporting Inspiration (sponsored by Volker Fitzpatrick): Dave Hall

Dave is described as a true sporting inspiration after completing 40 marathons in 40 days to raise money to improve the housing conditions in Sierra Leone.

Luton's Most Outstanding Citizen 2014 (sponsored by the Mayor of Luton): Debra Knight

Through NineRed, Debra has used spoken word, dance and digital art to help people that have gone through traumatic experiences.

People's Choice Award 2014 (sponsored by Luton on Sunday): Charlie Nelson

'SPORTING INSPIRATION': Dave Hall's feat of running 40 marathons in 40 days was one of the reasons he won an award

Charlie's brother sadly died of a brain tumour but dealt admirably with the loss by channeling all his energies into raising money for a charity set up in memory of his brother.

Lutonian of the Year (sponsored by easyJet): Kim Greig

Kim has dedicated many years of her life to not only serving the local community but also visiting countries around the world.

She has worked tirelessly volunteering in building and developing communities.

Lifetime Achievement (sponsored by Volkerhighways): Terry Jones

Terry has dedicated over 50 years to supporting the young people in Luton through his volunteering at the 1st Luton Sea Scouts.

Over the years he has held many different roles and helped thousands of young people engaging and teaching them the values of scouting and assisting them to reach their true potential.

Football club boss kicks off support for initiative to help protect town's children

A PLEDGE to hammer home the importance of safeguarding children was launched at Kenilworth Road on Monday.

Luton Town manager John Still was the first to sign up to the pledge along with Kevin Thoburn of the club's community trust, acknowledging the club and the trust's commitment to protecting children and young people.

The Luton Safeguarding Children Board launched this for organisations across Luton to sign up to and offer their support in protecting children from things such as sexual exploitation, abuse, being drawn into violent behaviour and cyberbullying.

The purpose of the pledge, as explained by Glen Denham, a representative for LSCB, said: "What we want to do is ensure that people are safe and are aware of when children could be at risk."

"It's to raise awareness in the community of what we are doing and also to let people who are committing these crimes that we are looking for you."

Mr Still said: "As a father and a grandfather these kids are the most important thing in the world to me, but sadly that's not the case for all children."

"It's very important to tackle these issues and I feel very proud to offer support on behalf of myself and the football club."

Emergency groups look at closer ties

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

WORK is underway to see combined emergency service responses in Bedfordshire.

The police, fire and ambulance services are keen on the idea, providing it benefits them and the communities which they serve.

Paul Fuller, chief fire officer for Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue, said: "Working more closely with our partners, including other emergency services, has the potential to provide even greater benefits for those most vulnerable within our community."

"We are currently responding to a Government consultation relating to closer working between emergency services."

The East of England Ambulance Service also said it was looking at working closer with other emergency forces in the county.

And Bedfordshire Police chief constable Jon Boucher said: "I am ruling nothing out with regards to trying to find ways of keeping our force sustainable, including exploring partnerships and collaboration opportunities with other emergency services as well as private and voluntary sector organisations."

However, there are some concerns.

Tim Roberts, regional organiser of Unison, which represents ambulance workers, was skeptical about the proposition, saying: "Being a paramedic requires a degree these days. Are we going to train police and fire-fighters to that standard?"

He added: "It is easy to say but very difficult to achieve in practice."

Right up your street

When the devil is not present in the details

THIS week Howard Chandler writes about the struggles of digging up street name data.

A frustrating aspect of researching street names is the lack of detail given in council minutes, usually just recording that a name has been approved.

It is also rare to see the local press commenting, but in 1928 one paper wrote about changes to names in the recently incorporated Leagrave area to avoid clashes with names in the town.

The article was about the substitution of Oakley Road for Oak Road instead of the Beaconsfield Avenue being proposed.

It was done to mark the municipal service rendered by Edwin Oakley and Albert Oakley.

Edwin was mayor three times, first in 1891, while Albert had the honour in 1903.

The brothers began selling bacon, cheese, margarine and lard from a handcart in 1875, and then operated from a place in High Town.

Many will remember their grocery shop near the bottom of Chapel Street, with its enticing smell of roasting coffee.

Each event runs from 11am until 4pm and includes entry to the house and grounds of the stately home.

From the Monday to Thursday there will be Hallowe'en antics and creepy crafts at Dunstable Downs and the Whipsnade Estate.

Take home your own witches hat, or perhaps a terrifying mask!

The event runs from 11am until 3pm and costs £2.50 per item you make.

The popular annual Boo at the Zoo also returns to Whipsnade this year with a number of creepy events being held from next Saturday until October 1.

These vary from pumpkin carving to mask creation for those who wish to show off their artistic side.

On the other hand, there is Ghoul School where you can transform themselves into their favourite creepy character, learn how to concoct a spooky spell and compete to wrap the best mummy.

Normal park admissions apply of £22.70 for adults and £16.35 for children.

Concessions tickets are £20.45. Extra costs may apply.

THEATRE

Smash hit at MK

POPULAR on both Broadway and in the West End, this bestselling book turned play is now in the middle of an equally successful UK tour.

Based on the award-winning novel by Mark Haddon, adapted for the stage by Simon Stephens and directed by Marianne Elliott, this stunning National Theatre production of Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time makes a much-anticipated visit to Milton Keynes Theatre next month for its second-to-last stop on its successful trip around the country after establishing itself as one of the top productions in the world on some of the biggest stages.

The play has been a commercial and critical success, winning five out of six Tony Awards which it was nominated for and eight out of nine Olivier Awards, taking home almost all of the major awards up for grabs.

Curious Incident has been performed in front of sold out crowds across the country and beyond since it first debuted at the Royal National Theatre back in 2012.

Fifteen year old Christopher has an extraordinary brain - while he is exceptional at maths he struggles to interpret the business end of everyday life.

When he falls under suspicion of killing his neighbour's dog it takes him on a journey that upturns his world and propels him into some terrifying new experiences.

But Christopher is made of stronger stuff than anyone might initially have expected of him.

CURIOUS INCIDENT...
MK THEATRE
NOVEMBER 2-7

This phenomenal production, with its unique and innovative staging and fine performances, draws the audience into Christopher's mysterious world and offers a remarkable insight into what it means to be 'different'.

For those familiar with the book, there is a twist in the way the famous tale is told on the stage, with it being portrayed in a play-within-a-play format.

The set is designed by Bunny Christie with movement by Scott Graham and Steven Hoggett for Frantic Assembly.

Starring Joshua Jenkins as Christopher and an ensemble cast that includes Geraldine Alexander, Stuart Laing and Roberta Kerr, The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time comes to Milton Keynes Theatre from November 2 - 7.

Tickets start at £11.50 with a discount for theatre card holders.

Tickets can be booked now at Milton Keynes Theatre Box Office.

Alternatively, you can call 0844 871 7652 or visit atgtickets.com/milton-keynes, though a booking fee of £1.90 per ticket will apply to purchases over the phone or online.

What's hot in Luton

Punslinger Tim Vine is on his first stand-up tour in four years and he is back with new jokes and silly songs. The two-time winner of the coveted 'Best Joke at the Edinburgh Fringe' is warning audiences to get ready to 'watch a grown man act the goat'. Tim has promised his show will contain wobbly props, a reference to a panda and a song about getting water in your ear. If you like the sound of that then pop along to the Grove Theatre on October 28 at 8pm.

Never painted before and always wanted to give it a go? Then go along to the adult painting evening on October 22 at Art Trend in Arundel Road. All supplies are provided and an artist will be there to assist you if required. Places cost £15 and you can call 07794 987796 for more details.

Top saxophonist Theo Travis' Double Talk band visits The Bear Club in Luton on October 23 for a night of bluesy progressive jazz courtesy of a Hammond organ, guitar, tenor sax, flute and drums. Theo is joined by Mike Outram, Pete Whittaker and Nic France as they go through their repertoire of jazz instrumental songs. Visit the-bear.club for more

PROPERTY TALK >with NIGEL LEWIS

Funded by Baker Street

GERRY Rafferty owed a lot to his most famous hit, Baker Street. Although he never lived at the famous London address, the catchy track – released in 1978 – was still netting him £80,000 a year until his death.

In a 2003 interview with The Sun, Rafferty revealed just how profitable his biggest song had been: "It's been a huge earner for me. I must admit, I could live off that song alone."

Another Rafferty track, Stuck in the Middle With You – infamous as the soundtrack to one of Reservoir Dogs' most gruesome scenes – was also a big earner for the singer-songwriter, who despite enjoying huge success, spent the last few years of his life in self-destruct mode.

He struggled with alcoholism and depression, moving from California to Ireland where his drinking became a problem. A well-documented four-day 'bender' in a London five-star hotel in 2008 left his room extensively damaged and after battling the condition for a few more years, he died of liver failure in 2011.

Paisley-born Rafferty started out playing with Billy Connolly's folk outfit the Humblebums then co-founded the soft-rock group Stealer's Wheel, before going solo.

Before it all started to go wrong, Rafferty owned this five-bedroom 14th century house in Speldhurst, Kent. The Grade II listed, Stonewall has a large bespoke farmhouse kitchen with an adjoining vaulted living room. Outside, there's entertaining terraces, heated swimming pool and games room.

If you need more space, a large garage block, which includes a gym, could be converted to a granny flat or home office. It's on the market for £1.75m.

Where first Apples were designed

APPLE has just unveiled a host of cutting-edge products including updated iPhone models and new Apple TV to global acclaim.

The technology firm has the world's tech-lovers salivating at every new launch, but rewind 30 years and Steve Jobs was searching for some design magic that would give Apple computers an edge.

He hired US firm Frog Design to help create the original Apple 'look' for his computers, which started the firm on its rise to global domination.

One of the designers working for the company and behind many of Apple's products was Ross Lovegrove, a celebrated technology pioneer who was also responsible for Sony's Walkman design in the early '80s.

Welsh-born Lovegrove seems to turn his hand to anything, and this year his designs have included such diverse consumer products as shoes, lights and carpets.

He's now selling the three-bedroom home where he created the iconic technology. He used this Notting Hill mews house as a home and work space for years and it is filled with light with a dramatic spiral staircase connecting the floors.

The designer haven in Powis Mews, W11, up for sale at £12m, is uber-modern and frightfully stylish, painted white throughout with cutting-edge furniture, it boasts two open-plan living areas, ground floor and basement work spaces, private roof garden and integral garage.

A final call for Tom Conti's family home

MOVING ON: Actor Tom Conti is selling his Hampstead mansion

Stage and screen veteran Tom Conti reportedly fell out with near-neighbour Thierry Henry over plans to put 40ft fish tanks and vast underground swimming pools in the former France and Arsenal forward's house.

While the Shirley Valentine star recently told the Sunday Times that the feud with Henry was untrue, he admits he's selling up to avoid paying high heating bills and future inheritance tax.

He and wife Kara have lived at their rambling Hampstead mansion, The Wabe, for 30 years. Times and fortunes have changed for the ageing heart-throb, who's starred in films such as Merry Christmas, Mr Lawrence, Miracles and Saving Grace, and was most recently Miranda Hart's dad in her eponymous sit-com. The couple had to leave their first London flat in 1968 because they couldn't afford the £14 weekly rent but, but after success came calling, Conti paid £770,000 for this property in 1985. He's now set to make a hefty profit if it sells for the £15m asking price.

Designed in 1903 by mathematician and educationalist William Garnett for his family, it was supposedly inspired by Lewis Carroll's nonsense poem Jabberwocky. In its heyday, the famous writer, along with George Bernard Shaw and Rudyard Kipling visited, while Isadora Duncan danced in the ballroom at a fundraiser for women's suffrage. In more recent years, Conti has hosted film industry buddies Arthur Miller, Farrah Fawcett and Rod Steiger.

The four-bedroom Edwardian property is set in large gardens, has a double-height ballroom as big as a church – perfect for thespian get-togethers – along with an unusual minstrel gallery. It's also got a home cinema, outbuildings and roof terrace with great views over London.

Celine's sad house sale

AN emotional Celine Dion tearfully told fans in Vegas last month that sick husband René Angélil had only weeks to live.

The Canadian singer hasn't long been back on stage, after taking time away from Caesars Palace to care for her spouse who is battling throat cancer. Dion said she'd only agreed to perform because Angélil, 73, convinced her to continue doing what she loves.

The devoted couple have been in a partnership for 35 years, ever since he became her manager when child prodigy Dion was just 12. They married in 1994.

Since starting her three-year residency at the Vegas casino, the 46-year-old has decided to sell her French Normandy-style, four-storey chateau on the private island of Ile Gagnon in Quebec, complete with furnishings and artwork.

The six-bedroom mansion, which was custom-built in 2001, can only be accessed by crossing a gate bridge, and includes a panelled library, gym, games room and pool. And if the thought of tackling the chateau's four storeys is too much for some potential buyers, there's a built-in lift.

Dion, best known for her Titanic hit My Heart Will Go On, was obviously looking to the past for inspiration as she had the interiors decked out in a frankly unique style, including a vaulted stone wine cellar with tasting room.

It could be yours for £12.6m – a snip compared to the couple's massive Bahamian-style home on Florida's Jupiter Island, which Dion is also trying to offload. She cut the price of the 5.7-acre waterfront estate earlier this year by a whopping $10m, after initially asking for $72.5m.

MORE than 50 years after they rocked its iconic brick arches, the Cavern Club is still synonymous with the Beatles and a popular tourist attraction in the group's home town.

However, another music venue and nightclub in the city also has links with the foursome and is said to have inspired George Harrison to pen Don't Bother Me, a song which featured on the group's With The Beatles album in 1963 – the first by Harrison to appear on one of their albums.

The guitarist and singer came up with the tune while on tour with the band in 1963, supposedly inspired after he was harassed by reporters and photographers on his way to Liverpool's Cabin Club.

But while the Cavern Club remains a magnet for Beatles fans, the Cabin Club – a popular destination for clubbers – has recently closed and is set for a major revamp. Although the new owners haven't finalised plans for The Havelock Building in Bold Street, it's likely to become a gastro-pub with flats above.

Nick Huddleston, of joint lettings agents CBRE, said: "It's in a perfect location and we're expecting strong interest from gastro-pub operators and restaurateurs.

"This part of the city has seen an extraordinary number of top quality, quirky restaurants and bars open in recent years and they're all thriving."

If they get planning consent for new roofing and a glazed front at street level, work on the trendy retail and residential development could start as soon as the autumn.

Sell your property before Christmas OR save £1000's on agency fees!

Has your property been on the market for some time and still not sold? With Christmas less than 12 weeks away this is the crunch time to review your property to make sure EVERY thing about it is right to make sure it is SOLD before the 24th December

No viewings – No feedback – No Sale?

Does this sound familiar; your property has been on the market for a couple of months now with just a few viewings here and there and you have not received much feedback from your agent. This is a common problem for sellers and creates a lot of emotion and frustration.

Mr Amoh approached VA Property Consultants after trying to sell his property with an agent for 3 months with no joy. He was frustrated by the lack of feedback and the fact that he was always chasing the agent for updates. VA Property Consultants a family run local estate agency was more than happy to take extra time out to visit the property to see how we could help turn things around for Mr Amoh to get the property sold.

The VA House Doctor to the rescue

The first thing checked was the asking price of the property. FACT - Many properties do not get a fair chance of selling if they have been priced out of the market! The asking price for Mr Amoh's property was good for the property type and current market. So why was the property not selling?

After a detailed walk through of the property we picked up on a number of issues which we felt was not helping. Mr Amoh's property was not dressed to sell and there many signs of wear and tear making it look very tired.

The VA house doctor, Venessa Afonja (The Director of VA Property Consultants) came to the rescue with her personal experience, practical advice and top tips to turn things around.

How to sell your property in six weeks

With the help of The VA House Doctor Mr Amoh SOLD his property 5 weeks later! Read Venessa's top tips to see how Mr Amoh SOLD his property at the asking price.

Tip No. 1 Lighten up the rooms. The property had dark looking rooms so we added a few table lamps and nice decorative floor lamps in a few of the room corners to give life and a warm glow. This is a very simple tip but don't go over the top. You need just enough light to give each room a glow especially if many of your viewings now will be in the afternoon and early evenings after the sun has gone down. Your property needs to light itself up and sell.

Tip No. 2 De-clutter the hallway. Make a great first impression with your entrance hallway as this is the first room the buyer will see. Mr Amoh's property was just too crowded with furniture and personal ornaments. If your property is cluttered at first sight, the first impression of your property is that it's cramped and small rather than open and spacious. Move unnecessary items such as hanging coats and boxes out of sight and instead put flowers on the hall table, it is so easy and creates an instant good feeling about the house

Tip No 3. Kerb Appeal. The first to prep is what we call 'curb' appeal. Make sure your property looks good from the outside, including clean windows, nicely cut grass and maybe hang some pretty flowers in a basket to attract buyers to your front door. Mr Amoh's front garden was overgrown with a lot of bricks and rubble piled up in the corner – Very off putting as soon as you walked up to the property...We fixed this immediately!

VA – A family run company you can trust

Venessa together with the VA team completed a full house doctor report for Mr Amoh and recommended the handyman, cleaner and gardener to get everything done fast at an affordable price. Spending a few pounds at this point ensured the property SOLD.

At VA Property Consultants we look at EVERY property on its individual merits and come up with a plan just for you and your property. We rise to a property challenge and can turn our House Doctoring experience to any type of property to get it SOLD fast.

We are so confident that we guarantee to sell your property in 6 weeks or reduce our 1% fee.

If you need to sell your property before Christmas and are worrying if this can really happen we are waiting to help. Call us now for a FREE House Doctor Appointment on

PRESS RELEASE

OCTOBER 2015

LANDLORDS: GET YOUR PROPERTY WINTER READY, ADVISES CONNELLS

Local estate agency Connells in Luton is urging landlords to take action now and make sure their rental properties are ready for the colder months ahead. With the coming season posing the risk of damage to many unprepared homes, the branch is advising landlords of their responsibility to ensure the safety of tenants, and has outlined the following top tips for landlords to assist with a safe, warm and problem-free winter:

1. Check the heating system – ensure all heating systems are fully working, bleed all radiators and, if necessary, service the boiler to prevent any nasty surprises during the cold weather;
2. Keep unoccupied properties warm – if your property is unoccupied, make sure the heating is left on a low setting or the system is drained down to avoid any issues with damp or damaged pipes when the heating is turned back on;
3. Repair damage to the outside of the house - check the brickwork for cracks, make sure there are no loose or missing tiles on the roof and ensure there is no damage or blockages to the drains and guttering. Problems often occur in these areas during wet and icy weather so they need to be checked regularly;
4. Maintain all greenery on the premises – make sure that all bushes and trees are trimmed and kept properly to prevent damage to the house and other properties and cars during storms and high winds;
5. Keep the drafts out - make sure lofts and walls are fully insulated and fit draft excluders to doors and windows for extra protection;
6. Sweep the chimney – if you regularly use an open fire throughout the winter it is necessary to have the chimney swept annually to avoid the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning and chimney fires;
7. Check your insurance policy – it is vital to check exactly what your policy covers, and to come up with a plan of action should any urgent problems arise that aren't covered under the insurance;
8. Speak to your tenants – communication is key when preparing for winter as your tenants will be able to tell you what work needs to be done and how urgent it is. You should also inform them of any work that is scheduled, and who to contact in an emergency.

"It is vital that landlords take their responsibility seriously and prepare their properties soon before winter really kicks in," says Justin, Lettings manager at Connells Luton. "The problems that can arise are often not only very costly for landlords to fix, but can seriously affect the day-to-day lives of tenants. Don't be left out in the cold - come in and see us if you need any help or advice on how to get your properties winter ready."

Connells Luton can offer a range of lettings services and advice, from matching tenants to their ideal properties to full property management, rent collection and insurance advice. For further information please call the branch on 01582 450999 or email luton@connells.co.uk

Peugeot Sport GTi badge is coming back on all-new 308

Remember, remember the fifth of November... because the iconic PEUGEOT GTi badge is returning to the medium car segment for the first time since the 1990s, and all is set for a thrilling performance. One of the most eagerly-anticipated new model launches of 2015, the 308 GTi by PEUGEOT SPORT is a high-end performance 'hot hatch' designed with the sophisticated and enthusiastic driver in mind.

Launched as a high-performance model for the 308 range – itself winner of the prestigious 2014 European Car of the Year – the 308 GTi has been extensively developed by PEUGEOT SPORT – the Brand's in-house team of motor sport engineers that boasts a wealth of expertise and success in the performance road car and international competition fields. The 308 GTi is the fourth road car project in three years following the critically acclaimed RCZ R, 208 GTi 30th and 208 GTi by PEUGEOT SPORT.

The letters GTi only ever feature on PEUGEOT products with the highest performance.

COMEBACK: The Peugeot GTi badge is returning to the medium car segment

An acronym of Grand Tourer Injection, it's a badge which has become shorthand for the hot hatch segment – a sector in which PEUGEOT has more than played its part. Products such as the 205 GTi and 309 GTi have acquired near-classic status in the decades since launch, and remain hugely popular with owners who appreciate their exceptional dynamic performance.

The 308 GTi continues in the same vein. Due to the dedication of the PEUGEOT SPORT team, the GTi offers customers a striking new interpretation of the 308's sleek exterior design, enhanced sports-oriented interior detailing and an unparalleled driving experience with strong desirability and following.

Powered by the most-powerful engine of its size, the state-of-the-art 1.6-litre THP petrol engine with Stop&Start (S&S) technology is available in two power outputs – 250hp and 270hp – with both providing impressive performance; limited to 155mph.

With both models weighing in at just 1205kg this enables the 308 GTi 250 to sprint to 62mph in just 6.2 seconds, with a power-to-weight ratio of just 4.82kg/hp.

The interior has been carefully specified to complement the 308 GTi's exterior, subtly emphasising its sporting credentials. The door sill carries the PEUGEOT SPORT and GTi signature, while the foot pedals, foot rest and gear knob are finished in aluminum.

The PEUGEOT 308 GTi 250 is priced at £26,555 on the road, while the PEUGEOT 308 GTi 270 (which has more power, the Torsen differential, 19" wheels, larger front brakes and sports seats) is priced at £28,155.

VOLVO XC90

Take a look inside...

- From £45,750
- Emissions: 49-186g/km
- Max speed 130mph
- 0-62mph 9.5s
- (combined) 48.7 mpg

Less is most definitely not more when it comes to the second generation Volvo XC90. Bigger, bolder and more technologically advanced than ever, it's a long way removed from its low-key predecessor. The interior's beautifully finished and the focus is on downsized, efficient engines.

Key to understanding the dynamics of this second generation XC90 is the fact that it runs on the all-new chassis based on Volvo's Scalable Product Architecture (SPA). Yes, it's Volvo's take on the infinitely customisable chassis systems like Volkswagen's MQB and will inevitably underpin a whole host of next-generation models. In this guise, it's lighter, stronger and safer than the old XC90 chassis, but despite an increase in vehicle dimensions, this XC90 downsizes its engines. You'll find no Yamaha V8s this time, just engines from the marque's green-tinted Drive-E family.

The flagship engine is the 320PS T6 petrol, which utilises both turbo and supercharging, while most British customers will inevitably walk straight past that to look instead at the 225PS D5 twin turbodiesel. Both engines drive all four wheels via the almost obligatory eight-speed automatic transmission. The other option is the T8 Twin Engine petrol/electric plug-in hybrid model, billed as 'the world's most powerful and cleanest SUV'. This delivers a combined 412PS output, with a thumping 640Nm of torque. 62mph from rest is dispatched in just 5.6s, yet this car can also give you 26 miles of pure electric driving range when fully charged. Whatever you think of Volvo's latest design direction, it's hard to ignore. The XC90 has a very big face. Even the 'iron mark' grille badge has been updated, while the headlamps now get T-shaped "Thor's Hammer" daytime running lights.

The interior is even more boldly-styled, with a massive tablet-like touch screen control console helping to create an interior that is modern, spacious and uncluttered.

Well, it's certainly different. Volvo has responded to an explosion in the big SUV market by bringing us an XC90 that's unrecognisable from the former model. It's bigger, bolder and, yes, a little brasher but with Chinese owners and a Chinese market that loves big and shiny, that was perhaps inevitable.

Always a warm welcome in Jersey, great game too

Wright on SPORTmatt.wright@
lsnmedia.co.uk

mattywright86

THERE is a great away-day culture among sports fans in this country.

That certainly helped Luton Town recently as hundreds of their fans made two long trips up north in a matter of days to see their Hatters defeat first Morecambe then Hartlepool United.

It's a culture that isn't always repeated in other countries - those who watch TV coverage of La Liga in Spain will have noticed the deafening silence that accompanies goals from the away team.

Last weekend, I went on an away day that doesn't get quite as much press as, say Carlisle United v Plymouth Argyle, but one that has become a highlight for those that support Championship rugby clubs.

Jersey have been playing in English rugby's second tier since 2012 and have been a positive addition on the pitch as well as giving opposition supporters a weekend to remember.

Bedford Blues fans have made sure to mark that particular fixture in the calendar and save the date for the last four seasons.

It does feel a bit strange taking a flight to an away game, even if it does only take half an hour to fly down to the largest of the Channel Islands.

Mind you, spare a thought for Jersey's players and supporters for they have to make such a journey to the mainland every other week.

We certainly lucked out with the weather for much of last weekend. It felt strange seeing that much sunshine in the middle of October.

This was my third visit to the island and the welcome at their ground in St Peter was as warm as ever.

The Blues fans were out in force, as they often are when their team are on the road, and they helped swell the crowd to above 2,000.

Everyone inside ended up witnessing a wonderful match that saw the hosts storm ahead before Bedford squared the game up.

In the end, a late try won the game 34-27 for Jersey, but the Blues' performance meant no-one really left the ground last Saturday feeling disappointed.

For away fans, visiting a new place often means finding the best local pub and I can recommend The Lamplighter in St Helier, which has a large selection of beers and a truly staggering choice of whiskies.

There are also a few things over there that can't be found in England, such as £1 notes - very much a novelty for someone my age - and half-lobster thermidor for £17.50.

Jersey make the return trip to Goldington Road on February 13. The weather won't be as clement then, but hopefully their fans will find the welcome every bit as warm.

NEXT GENERATION: 57 years separate the oldest player of the inclusive Luton, Dunstable and District Netball League, 71-year-old Barbara Walsham and the youngest, 14-year-old Charley Plummer

Age just a number in netball

YOU can't say the Luton, Dunstable & District Netball League is not inclusive as players young and old compete across its three divisions in South Bedfordshire.

One of their players, Julia Sandifer, has been involved in it for a remarkable 47 years and the Leighton Buzzard Comets' Wing Attack is the league's longest-serving player, having first participated aged 14.

The Comets, who play in Division One, can also boast the league's oldest player in 71-year-old Barbara Walsham.

Meanwhile, in Division Two, there is a player who is 57 years Walsham's junior - 14-year-old Charley Plummer who plays Wing Attack for the Luton Black Tornadoes, the youngest player involved.

The LDDNL season began a few weeks ago with the variety of players involved competing all the way through to June.

It hasn't been an easy start for Sandifer and Walsham and the LB Comets as they lost their first two games of the campaign.

For Plummer and the Black Tornadoes, they've won one and lost one, but there's plenty of time on her side for her to climb her way towards the top.

The Red Stripes top the fledgling Premier League table, but expect plenty of twists and turns in the months ahead.

Rovers and Blues fight back to take important victories on the road

FOOTBALL

THE Blues battled down from a goal behind to take a 3-1 win away to struggling Merthyr Town in the Evo-Stik Southern Premier League.

Bouncing back from a midweek home reverse at the hands of Cambridge City, Dunstable Town moved away from the danger area, claiming a valuable three points against fellow strugglers, with The Martyrs remaining in the relegation places.

Debutant Cortez Belle, who had only rejoined Merthyr on Friday, opened the scoring for the hosts in the 17th minute only for defender James Kaloczi to level the tie three minutes later.

The visitors took a deserved lead in at the break when Daniel Talbot slotted home to make it 2-1.

With the game precariously perched in the second half, Merthyr looked to make a game of it but any hope of the hosts taking a share of the spoils was ended in added time.

In the 93rd minute, Gary Wharton stepped up to put the game to bed and made sure The Blues made the long journey back to Dunstable with three points safely in their pockets.

In the Evo Stik Southern League Division One Central, Barton Rovers also bounced back from a losing position to take all three points away from home with a 2-1 win at Godalming Town.

The hosts took the lead just after the half hour mark in controversial circumstances.

With a player seemingly offside, Jack Mazzone slotted home to give The Gs the lead.

After the restart, Rovers looked a changed side. With 56 minutes gone, Ashton Grant levelled before Jack Keating netted a late winner.

In the Spartan South Midlands Premier Division, AFC Dunstable beat Harefield United at home 2-1.

Poor second half

LUTON TOWN

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

Luton manager John Still confessed that his side's second half sinking feeling to lose 2-1 at Crawley was the worst he'd seen all season.

The Hatters were 1-0 ahead at half time thanks to Cameron McGeehan's seventh of the season and were looking comfortable against an impotent Reds side, but that all changed after the break.

Rhys Murphy drew the hosts level in the 67th minute as the visiting defence watched him head in from close range and then Matt Harrold lashed in the winner nine minutes from time.

"The second half was probably the worst 45 minutes of the season, regardless of the results we've had earlier this season," said Still, adding: "We didn't pass it well enough, we didn't defend well enough."

"We were slow out of the blocks in the second half. I thought we invited pressure from the free-kicks that we gave and when we did get on the ball we weren't finding the right passes."

Luton had been flying on their travels, smashing seven in their last two League Two games on the road, but this was the kind of nervy, error-strewn capitulation which rid-dled their early season form.

Asked how his side slipped to that from a position of first half control, Still said: "I really don't know because nothing changed from us. Everything was the same, we kept the same formation and we felt comfortable."

Still did admit that he'd even warned his side at the break about the dangers of complacency.

"I think we made it really clear at half time what could trip us up," he said. "It disappointed me. Everyone fails but there were too many needless fouls and it invited pressure."

"It was crisp in the first half and the disappointing thing for me was that I don't think they took heed of that. I probably had nine players in the second half that never played to the level that we would expect them to."

He added: "The crux of it was that we defended poorly and we never passed it well enough." Still made three changes with Sean Long handed his debut at right back after signing on loan from Reading this week.

He said: "Steve O'Donnell has been out with an ankle injury. He's trained most of this week and will train next week, but we are light in that area anyway so we brought Sean in and, to be honest, I thought he was a plus."

Captain Steve McNulty was a major omission from the heart of the backline and Still said: "Steve McNulty is back in Liverpool at the moment for family reasons so we'll deal with that after."

Hatters return to bad old days with Crawley defeat

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

LEAGUE TWO
CRAWLEY TOWN 2
LUTON TOWN 1

Luton traded in their sparkling away form for an abysmal capitulation reminiscent of their early season failings as they gift-wrapped and tied a ribbon around a present to generously mark Crawley's 119th anniversary.

That they did so from such a comfortable first half position was even more baffling as goal machine Cameron McGeehan gave the Hatters a 31st minute lead against the Sussex side who, in their old age, looked every bit a team that had completely forgotten where the goal was at home in the first two months of the campaign. Trust Town to jog their memory.

Woeful defending saw Rhys Murphy nod the hosts them level on 67 minutes and then Matt Harrold drilled in nine minutes from time.

Quite how it got to that miserable stage will need some forensic examination to prevent a return to the bad old days of August because at half time, Luton, though hardly scintillating themselves, were in relative cruise control and should perhaps have notched more than a solitary strike.

They got nowhere near adding to that tally after the interval, save for a golden Jack Marriott chance. Instead, it was a slow, inevitable death played out over 45 dreadful second half minutes, as Luton's defence – minus captain Steve McNulty, absent due to 'family reasons' – were spooked into submission.

"Our defending wasn't good enough and our passing wasn't good enough. It wasn't like they've had a little bit of luck with a deflection," said manager John Still.

He made three changes with Nathan Doyle starting along with Marriott – handed his full Football League debut – and Sean Long making his bow after signing on a month's loan from Reading on Friday.

The Republic of Ireland under-21 made a decent impression in a first half devoid of much quality, providing the cross for opener which, without Luton piling on the pressure was deserved on the balance of chances.

Craig Mackail-Smith had the first of them, lashing just over the bar. On the half hour mark, he did the hard work with a neat swivel in the Crawley penalty area, but missed the target.

A minute later and the Hatters were ahead when McGeehan headed Long's cross back over debutant keeper Darryl Flahavan's head with captain Sonny Bradley unable to clear off the line. It was his seventh of the season and he could have notched his eighth moments later but nodded wide from a corner.

At that stage Luton's defence had a cigar on. Gwion Edwards was the Reds' primary threat by virtue of the fact that he was the only home player whose first instinct was not to pump the ball long. A cross headed over by Murphy was all they could bring to their own party in the opening half.

As an unsolicited tactic it worked to lull Luton into a malaise after the break and the two combined to level in the 67th minute. Unmarked Murphy couldn't miss from close range and, as poor as it was to concede, it should have been only a temporary blip.

The Crawley second arrived with an air of predictability in the 81st minute, even if it needed a fine low finish from Harrold from 20 yards. Luton had no response and that needs to change. Quickly.
